10 H.-P. NOISELESS NAPIER MOTORS.

The 10 H.-P. Model, the latest production made possible by an enlargement of the Napier Works, is an ideal car for doctors and others who require a car which may be absolutely relied upon under all conditions, but to whom high speed and great power are secondary considerations.

The Napier 10 H.-P. is made with the same absolute accuracy and the same perfect material as all other models from the same works. This fact ensures smooth and silent running on the road.

The price of this model is extremely moderate and every car is guaranteed for three years. It is Napier quality brought within the reach of the motorist of modest means.

The expenses of up-keep are also reduced to a minimum, so that they are actually less, mile for mile, for the user of a 10 H.-P. Napier than for the man who keeps a pony and trap.

Thus the consumption of petrol is extremely small. Lubrication is automatic, the most practical and economical system, and a gallon of lubricating oil is sufficient for a thousand miles; while the smooth-running effects such an economy in tyre troubles that the Manufacturers are prepared under agreed conditions to guarantee from 10 per cent. to 20 per cent., greater Tyre mileage with Napier Cars than of any other make of car of equal weight and horse-power.

Agents for India—TREACHER AND CO., LTD BOMBAY, BYCULLA, and POONA

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dizziness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle on nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

☞ CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled venders often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A new medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of zest and energy, &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to procure a copy. Post free in plain envelope on receipt of Postal Order Sixpence, from THE VETARZO REMEDIES Co., Gospel Oak, London, or of Agents for above medicines. Price 10 annas Post Free.

TRIED MANY THINGS WITHOUT BENEFIT UNTIL TOOK CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE.

Mr. F. E. Lewis, 48, Bridge Street Row, Chester writes:—"Just a line in favour of 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' I had eczema for seven months, and tried many things without benefit until I took your remedy. After the eighth bottle I was quite well again. Please accept this letter as a token of gratitude to your wonderful 'Clarke's Blood Mixture.' —June 13, 1908"

IMPERITIES IN THE BLOOD.—We have seen hosts of letters from all sorts and conditions of people, in which the writers acknowledge the benefit they have received from Clarke's Blood Mixture which as a curative agent cannot be too highly estimated, since it cleanses and clears the blood from all impurities, and restores it to its normal condition. This is a good testimonial from the Family Doctor the popular medical weekly, which goes on further to say: "It is certainly the finest blood purifier that science and skill have brought to light, and we can, with the utmost confidence, recommend it our subscribers and the public generally."

PALITANA NEWS.—The opening the Man Mandir and of unveiling the portrait of the late Thakor Saheb Sir Mansinji, K.G.S.I., took place on Friday evening at Palitana in the presence of the Administrator Mr. W. C. Tudor Owen, Kumar Shri Luckndhirji, heir-apparent, Morvi, the elite of the town, Bhayads, and officers. This Mandir is a nice exquisite structure designed by Mr. H.S. Davies, an ornament to the approaches to the town, and built by the Dowager Chokwalla Rani Saheb, the mother of the minor Thakor Saheb to perpetuate the memory of her late husband, who was a pious and gifted ruler. The day selected is the 5th anniversary of Sir Mansingji, and the programme arranged was quite consistent with the occasion, viz., recitation of Samvediya Samhita and Yajurvediya Samhita which he knew by heart, repitition of religious songs composed by him, reading to the audience impressive portions of Bhagwatgeeta, and feeding the poor and the needy. The Dewan Saheb first briefly dwelt upon the parental Government of the late Thakor Saheb followed closely by that of sympathetic British Administration and consequent happy condition of the people and further foreshadowed by the excellent training of the minor Thakor Saheb, who augurs well to be a good ruler. He then requested the minor Thakor Saheb to perform the ceremonies.

THE DIVORCE COMMISSION.

EITHER for the benefit of the busy man or for the encouragement of indolence, the Daily Telegraph has commissioned Mr. Hall Caine, the novelist, to epitomise the evidence given before the Divorce Commission, which has been sitting for some months past in London. Newspaper readers, interested in the subject, or likely to be have read it for themselves and formed their own conclusions. Mr. Hall Caine, however, has studied divorce law in many countries and it is hoped he will be able to help towards the understanding of the proceedings of the Commission for he gives his own views as well as those of the witnesses. To the minds of most people, we imagine, it has been made manifest that the English law must be amended, so as to simplify procedure, to enable the poor as well as the rich to have resort to its provisions, and to place both husband and wife on the same footing as regards the grounds, for which divorce may be obtained. But Mr. Caine says that if, by a stretch of the imagination, he could suppose himself to be Lord Gorell, the President of the Commission required at this moment to prepare the report, Mr. Caine says he would be in the first instance at a loss to set down what had been said as a whole by the witnesses examined, and next he would be totally unable to estimate the value of their evidence. On the strength of this admission it is remarkable that the Telegraph did not return Mr. Caine's manuscript without reading another line. But Mr. Caine is always interesting and he does gather this: that as regards the broad general question, whether divorce itself should or should not be allowed, we are not a step nearer finality of judgment than we were when the Divorce Act was passed. Nineteen prominent witnesses, including judges, solicitors, police-court magistrates, social workers and clergymen, give it as their opinion that divorce for ill-assorted unions ought certainly to be granted on grounds that are good and sufficient; but exactly nineteen other prominent bishops, noblemen, police court magistrates, missionaries and social workers are just as sure that divorce is an evil, that the Divorce Act of 1857 has been injurious and ought to be repealed, and that marriage must be indissoluble if it is to contribute to the welfare of the individual, of the family and of the State.

Mr. Hall Caine, however, considers himself just as good an authority, as any of those whoever called and examined—nay on the whole he thinks he is a better authority, because his experience of life is more general; and he declares that, although many marriages are failures, the institution as a whole is a success. And the conclusion he has arrived at is that the union of the sexes in marriage is on the whole a profoundly happy relation, giving strength and joy to human existence, holding the family and the State and even the church together, and that if it were anything else but this, the whole social organism would immediately dissolve. Statisticians place happy marriages at the ratio of seventy-five per cent, against twenty-five per cent. of unhappy ones. Mr. Caine places the percentage at ninety happy ones, for he is not sure that the number of disastrous marriages have not been as many as ten out of every hundred he has known. That may be, but there are many unhappy marriages of which the world knows nothing and which the student of human nature never so much as guesses. And we would prefer to accept twenty-five per cent. or even over that if we sought mere statistical accuracy. However the divorce court is for the minority and it is better that two persons unhappily allied should be enabled by the law to sever all bonds of union than be compelled to continue an alliance which is irksome and repulsive to both. Judicial separation is worse than useless, for it is calculated to drive both parties to seek the grounds for dissolution and if this does not actually happen it sentences both to perpetual punishment for a solitary mistake, which is monstrously unjust. And Mr. Caine does well to quote Milton, who is his "Doctrine and Discipline of Divorce," argued for greater facilities for separation in cases of incompatibility of temper and against the theory that would allow the marriage tie to be dissolved only for the one cause of faithlessness. If, adds Mr. Caine, marriage is a natural bond, however suggested or inspired—which it rarely is—by the thought of the propagation of the race, it is a union of souls as well as of bodies and no law can be of good effect which takes account only of the physical part of the compact. A man may never sin with another woman, yet all his heart may have left his wife and she has to suffer a deeper infidelity than any mere physical transgression would involve. Is it not, therefore, a low view of morality that places the physical above the spiritual transgression, granting the wife separation for the one, but no relief for the other? If love is at the foundation of marriage surely its physical expression is not the highest part of it, and so far Milton was right in protesting that to base the law of divorce on the lower offence to the neglect of the higher one is to degrade humanity to the level of the beast. Divorce should be granted for other grounds than faithlessness.

As to the prevailing unequality of the sexes we believe the weight of evidence before the Commission to be in favour of amendment and see no reason why the two should not be held equally culpable. In the words of Mr. Caine, what evidence could be given that a man's love has left his wife except the palpable evidence of his infidelity? To him and to us, it seems a low view of divine matrimony to say that if adultery shall be the chief ground for the dissolution of marriage, and that adultery in the man must be supplemented by some act of cruelty or desertion, it is fair to add that this is because a man's adultery does not expose the wife, the family and the State to such disaster as that to which the woman's adultery exposes the husband, the family and the State. In any case the marriage vow itself being equally binding on husband and wife, the inequality of the sexes under the present law is a deep wrong and an outrage on the woman. Mr Hall Caine, however, goes beyond the scope of the Divorce Commission and wishes to discuss the question "Is there only one man for a woman?" Is it true or is it not true, according to nature, that for a woman there is only one man? But here we must leave him, where he closes his first article with the observation: If the answer is "Yes" it must be obvious that divorce and separation are of precious little use to a woman anyway, beyond removing her from the society of a cruel and brutal husband.

THE VASSAL RULER OF KHIVA. The Khan of Khiva, Mahomed Rahim, whose death has just occurred, was one of those unfortunate rulers of Central Asia who have had the mortification of seeing their power and importance vanish before the might of Russia, and their territories become its vassal States. Khiva was in early times a great kingdom renowned in history by the name of Kharexm or Chorasmia, and its rulers held sway over large and fertile tracts. Its prosperity was chiefly owing to the River Oxus, the mightiest in Central Asia, which flowed through it to the Caspian Sea, thus making a vast waterway between Europe and the heart of Asia. The Oxus no longer flows into the Caspian, but falls into the land-locked Sea of Aral, and is thus rendered useless as a great waterway. The prosperity of Khiva has thus received a great blow. The close proximity of the Russian Empire was also fatal to its independence which finally succumbed to it in 1813 when the capital fell into the hands of a Russian army under the terrible General Kaufmann. Mahomed Rahim Khan was then eight years on the throne of Koiva, years which he should have spent in fortifying his capital and in making his position otherwise strong, for the Russians were known during those years to have an eye on Khiva which had baffled them for a long time indeed. Khiva was, in fact, always in a defiant position with regard to them, and had punished most severely the expeditions that had been sent against it. Already Peter the Great had thoughts of conquering rich and fertile Koiva and had sent a strong expedition against it, which was annihilated by the Koivans in the first quarter of the eighteenth century. Again after more than a century another expedition met with a similar fate in 1840. The distance and inaccessibility of Khiva were its greatest safeguards, and the Russians, before further direct attempts, tried to reduce these by annexing neighbouring territories like Khokand and Taskkend. Then from Taskkend and two other converging points they moved in 1873 upon Khiva, which became helpless and the Khan Rahim had nothing but to surrender. The chief difficulty consisted in the task of getting there; but Kaufmann having overcome it, Khiva itself fell into his hands most easily, for its fortifications were of the feeblest. Vambery visited the city in 1864 and described the Royal Castle which he says resembled "a poor mud-hut" more than anything else, defended by a couple of ancient cannon brought thither by Nadir Shah.

The Russians annexed that part lying on the right bank of the Oxus, and imposed a heavy war indemnity which is even now not quite paid. This indemnity was the late Khan's most galling load as it constantly involved him in disputes with his subjects who were lax in paying it, and Russian troops had several times to be called to afford the Khan aid in obtaining the money from his own people. So difficult was Rahim's position in this matter that he begged the Russians to take over the administration themselves and relieve him of the disagreeable necessity of fighting his own people. But the Russians prefer to maintain the Khan as an intermediary rather than take the odium on themselves. Rahim Khan was visited by Burnaby during his famous ride in 1875, only two years after his humiliation by Russia, and he then made a very favourable impression on the intrepid English traveller. "He did not look more than 28 and had a pleasant, genial smile and a merry twinkle in his eye, very unusual amongst Orientals; in fact, he is very engaging. I must say, I was greatly surprised after all that has been written in Russian newspapers, about the cruelties and other iniquities perpetrated by this Khivan potentate to find the original such a cheery sort of fellow. He is taller than the average of his subjects and is strongly built. His face is a broad massive type, he has a low square forehead, large dark eyes, a short straight nose, with dilated nostrils and a coal-black beard and moustache. An enormous mouth, with irregular but white teeth and a chin somewhat concealed by his beard, and not at all in character with the otherwise determined appearance of his face, must complete the picture." One of his brothers was in a Russian cavalry regiment and many of his relations and former Ministers are to be met in the palaces of Moscow and St. Petersburg, whither it was once probable that the Khan Rahim would also go and reside. His kingdom or what remains of it, is as Mr. D. Boulger truly says, far more powerless in Russian hands than the Nizam's or any of the Mahratta States is in ours. Khiva it may be noted is the only Mahomedan State where the succession to the throne is regulated by the law of primogeniture: and the next Khan therefore is a son not a brother of the late ruler, as in other such States.

CHILD LABOUR. THE illegal employment of children in factories is a class of offence, which is particularly common in the Central Provinces and Berar and is giving the authorities some trouble. A brief report on the working of the Factories Act there during 1909 makes a feature of this, and says that the offence is very difficult of detection. There is a scarcity of adult male labour, particularly in Berar, and this has led to the employment of women and children in large numbers. The Commissioner of Berar remarks that the offence of using child labour has become notoriously common, and yet it is not easy to obtain convictions of the offenders, on account of the way in which parents and the children themselves combine with the factory owners to hoodwink inspecting officers. During 1909 there was a more than ordinarily large demand for labour in Berar on account of the excellence of the cotton crops, which led to the opening of new factories. An increase of seventeen factories in work brought the total to 340, while the total number of operatives employed increased from 37,619 to 40,364. However, the staff are contriving to increase the number of their inspections and only 47 factories of which eleven were working were left unvisited. There seems to be an excessive number of accidents, but this is more the fault of employed than employers, being due to carelessness which probably arises from unuse to machinery. When the people of the province become more accustomed to machinery, an appreciable diminution is expected. On the other hand, it is reported that owners pay attention to the demands of inspectors for improvements and repairs and these are attended to with reasonable promptitude.

THE RAILWAY DISASTER.

Federal Affairs.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, AUGUST 22.

THE enquiry into the circumstances surrounding the railway disaster at Richmond, Victoria, on July 18, is still dragging its weary length along, but the evidence adduced each day is too voluminous for publication in detail. So far as the investigation has gone, however, there seems to have been an error in signalling between South Yarra and Richmond, but exactly who is at fault has yet to be discovered. Signalman McDonald, of South Yara, and Signalman Bull, of Richmond, contradict each other. McDonald stated that he got the "line clear" signal from Richmond before he allowed the second train to leave, and that the Richmond recording book is wrong. Bull declares that he never sent the "line clear" signal at all. However, Mr. Edward C. Blazey (superintendent of the good service) swore that he thought each man honestly believed the other had made a mistake. Whoever made the error made it insensibly, or was not aware mentally of what was being done. The witness added that last year on the Victorian railways 2 1-2 million trains had been run, with only four failures on the block instruments. Mr. John Mars, of the New South Wales railways, considered the lock and block system with the track circuit was about as perfect as it was possible to imagine for the safe working of railways. Judging from the signalmen's books, it was impossible to account for the accident, but it was possible for the signals to have been given and taken in error. Mr. Charles G. Pilkington, engineer for yards and interlocking on the South Australian lines, also gave evidence last Tuesday. In his opinion the Winter block at South Yarra and Richmond, or any block instrument, was unsafe, although he acknowledged that he was not an expert on that subject. That is as far as the enquiry has proceeded to date. In the meantime the Victorian Railway Commissioners are extending the electric lock and block system of train signalling which has been experimentally in operation for some time. As soon as practicable all the most important rail sections in the metropolitan area will be connected up by this system to the signal boxes. The department has already settled a number of claims in connection with the accident. Several of the claimants have refused to accept the sum offered as compensation, and it is anticipated that the law courts will be asked to adjust the claims.

LAND ASSESSMENT.

One of the most important party measures so far introduced by the Federal Government is the Land Tax Assessment Bill, the second reading of which was moved by the Prime Minister on Tuesday. This Bill, Mr. Fisher said, was to provide machinery for carrying out the progressive land tax which Parliament might propose. At present the whole of the public estate was in the hands of the State Governments. He had noticed that during the last 20 years the State Parliaments had added a new feature to their lands administration and as a consequence a department within a department had been set up. While one of these departments was selling public lands the other was buying back from private owners lands for settlement purposes. The question arose, why this should be so in a small sparsely settled country like Australia. He felt that the result of the introduction of a tax on unimproved land values had been to make land more easily available for settlement wherever it was tried. There had been expended something like 600 millions of money, which had largely added to the value of lands acquired from the Crown. Of that amount 400 millions were from loan money and 150 millions from the sale of lands. They should look at this question from the broadest point of view and strive to prevent the unearned increment from lands, which should belong to all, falling into the hands of private individuals. The Prime Minister added that he hopes to prevent the consolidations of estates by co-operation with the State Governments. Land taxation, which applied only to large estates was a proper method of taxation. Absentees would be penalised to the extent of a penny in the pound, while the exemption of £5,000 allowed to residents would not be allowed them. The present Bill was not a taxation Bill, but simply one for the assessment of values. The taxation would date from July 1, 1910. It was further argued by Mr. Fisher that the measure was one that would not be harsh even to large holders, and the tax would be graduated with the hope that lands now lying practically unused would be made available for closer settlement, and also that an addition to the Federal revenue would be obtained. Mr. P. McM. Glynn pointed out that the effect of the measure would be to impose double taxes on the land—State and Commonwealth, but Mr. Fisher claimed that the matter had already been settled by the country at the last election. The matter stands at this stage for the present, the debate having been adjourned for a week.

A REMARKABLE FIND.

With reference to the reported discovery of the bones of some huge extinct animal at Mowbray Swamp, Smithton, Tasmania, the Launceston correspondent of the Hobart "Mercury," writing on August 8, said:—"Mr. E. C. Lovell, of Mowbray Swamp, Smithton, when ditching in Mowbray Swamp, about 5 ft. below the surface, discovered the remains of a large animal. The bones evidently belong to a quadruped about the size of a horse. The lower jaws are very massive, and are like those of a marsupial having, two large teeth in front. The back teeth are very similar to those of the horse but are somewhat larger. The joints of the backbone vary in size, those at one extremity (the lower, Mr. Lovell thinks) being about double the size of those at the other. The head is somewhat similar in shape to that of a wombat, and about the size of a bullock's head. Most of the bones are in a very fair state of preservation, but the head is somewhat broken, as Mr. Lovell has not got all the bones, but he has no doubt that most of the missing parts could be found by further excavation. A letter which Mr. Lovell wrote, giving these particulars, was shown to the curator of the Victoria Museum (Mr. H. H. Scott) who remarked:—"Naturally until one can get to handle the remains it is quite impossible to give a detailed classification, but from the very accurate description supplied I have no doubt that the bones are those of an extinct marsupial, diprotodon, of the tertiary period. If this is eventually proved, as I think it will be, it will settle once and for all the question of a land connection between Australia and Tasmania as late, perhaps, as the pleistocene age at least. I have suspected for some years that the remains of gigantic marsupials were buried in our strata, and from the very exact information supplied me by Mr. Adye Douglas, of Winglaigh, I am convinced that a skull of a diprotodon was dug up from that district some 30 years ago. This skull actually found its way to Launceston, but getting, apparently, into the hands of goths and vandals, was lost to science. Through the researches of Mr. James McKie Bowling, of King Island, the tertiary mammals of the mainland have been traced as near to us as the position of the old land connections, and now, if Mr. Lovell's specimen is what I think it to be, the last link in the chain is completed, and we have a new chapter of tertiary geological and palæontological history to write."

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

The sub-committee of the Cabinet appointed to report on the reorganisation of the Agricultural Department has drafted a scheme which will involve drastic changes. In preparing the scheme the committee has been mainly guided by the need of having a coherent system of agricultural education. The Government are negotiating with the University authorities for the appointment of a professor of agriculture. It is probable that the position will be offered to Dr. Cherry whose term as Director of Agriculture will shortly expire. The scheme also proposes that the University faculty of agriculture shall include representatives of the agricultural colleges, the Dookie and Longerenong Agricultural High Schools, and those who conduct the primary agricultural education in the State schools. The faculty would be responsible for co-relating and co-ordinating the agricultural education from State schools, through the agricultural high schools and agricultural colleges to the University. The Agricultural Department would also be represented upon the faculty of agriculture, so that there would be complete harmony between the department and the various stages of agricultural education. The terms of office of both the Director (Dr. Cherry) and the secretary (Mr. H. G. Duffin) expire shortly. The sub-committee recommends that the appointments be not renewed. It is considered that Dr. Cherry's services would be more valuable as Professor of Agriculture, and it is recommended that the new Director should be obtained from within Australia if possible, and he should be placed in full control of the Agricultural Department. The committee further recommends that the office of Secretary of Agriculture should be abolished.

COMMONWEALTH NOTE ISSUE.

In the House of Representatives on Tuesday the second-reading debate on the Australian Notes Bill was resumed. Sir John Quick (V) continued his unfinished address of Friday last, again quoting extensively from standard works to show that a State issue of paper money was fraught with danger. He had calculated that the expenses of the Commonwealth issue would be £16,700 per annum. Calculating that £3,000,000 was borrowed without interest, this would represent a gain to the Commonwealth of £90,000 as against which there would be the loss of the note tax to the States and of the interest lost by the Queensland Government through the cancellation of its note issue. Taking this into consideration there would be a large loss to the people of Australia as a whole. He felt sure that the whole scheme was fraught with danger and that it would lead to disaster. Mr. Laird Smith (T.) contended that the security offered by the Commonwealth would be very much greater than that offered by the banks. In Tasmania he had invested money in a bank which had failed and had now received 1s. in return. The Commonwealth could secure interest on the amount of the notes issued which might be formed into a sinking fund towards the repayment of the present State debts when taken over. Mr. Fairbairn (V.) said that an indiscriminate issue of State notes was likely to injure the credit of a country. He considered that the better plan would be for the Government to control the present issue notes by the associated banks. The banks should have a State audit for three years prior to having the privilege to issue notes. It would have been far better if legislation had been introduced to mitigate against the chances of financial panic. The banks had offered to keep a gold reserve sufficient to cover the total amount of the notes issued. The proper way to obtain money by the Commonwealth for defence, etc., would be to borrow it and inaugurate a sinking fund. He thought that a Royal Commission should be appointed to inquire into the whole matter. Mr. Archibald (S.A.) challenged the members of the Opposition to give any sane reason why Commonwealth notes would deteriorate. With a gold reserve of 25 per cent. and the prestige of the Commonwealth to maintain them it was impossible that the notes would depreciate in value. The only weak point in the Bill was that the paper currency was not connected with a bank. He considered that it should be associated with a State bank. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Edwards (Q.) supported the measure. He considered that the currency in civilised countries should be paper, and the more civilised a country became the more paper would be used. (Hear, hear.) The value of paper currency would be maintained as long as the Government did not over-issue it.

The debate was adjourned.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

The Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) was asked by a deputation on Wednesday to define the policy of the Government in regard to the oil industry. Mr. Tudor said that the matter had been considered by Cabinet, and although the current year was a difficult one from the financial standpoint the importance of the industry from many aspects, including that of defence, had been raised, and the Government had decided to introduce into Parliament in the near future a Bounties Bill to help the industry. The amount to be offered in bounties was not as large as he would have liked it to be. It would be £10,000 a year for five years, and was to be for the production not of crude oil but the refined product, kerosene. The Government thought that this would be better than placing a duty on kerosene because at present the production in Australia did not show any signs of being able to supply the demand. As far as other oils produced were concerned they could be considered when the tariff was being discussed. As already announced, there would not be a general reopening of the tariff this session. The bounty condition would be so framed as that imported crude oil refined in Australia would not be eligible. The bounty would be for kerosene obtained from shale in Australia. Naphtha, benzine, mineral residual, lubricating, and other oils could be dealt with in the tariff. It would be for Parliament to settle the conditions under which the bonus was to be paid. The Government thought that the best way to help the industry was to give the bonus in the way indicated, so that the people might be able to get the article at a lower price.

A deputation from the Australian Tin Company asked the Minister for Customs for an increase in the duties on tins, alleging that it was impossible to compete with the British and American articles. A fixed duty per yard was suggested. Mr. Tudor promised consideration of the matter in connection with many others which had been put before him.

A WAR OF WOMEN.

A very curious affray has lately taken place on the mainland, just across from Hongkong, in the district of Saaon, says a local correspondent. The officials were intent upon taking a census of the population. When the women saw their doors marked, they suspected some sinister motive, and decided to show fight the secret of their dread being that this was some official move to add to the taxation. Some thousands, therefore, assembled and demanded an explanation of this marking of the doors. The native reporter wisely remarks that "the women are very ignorant, and know little, but they know the value of cash, and that the officials are always on the look-out to get it out of their pockets."

The local magistrate unwisely treated the women's demands with indifference, and even abused them with rude and contemptuous words. But their temper was by this time abaze, and the men supported them. The magistrate then went himself to try to pacify the enraged women, whereupon they took him and beat him across the mouth. After this they demanded that he should meet them in the yamen, and give them the desired explanation. When the meeting took place, however, the magistrate appeared without his official robes. This would not suit the women, who forced him to go back to his room and array himself in his robes of officialdom and his hat. The unhappy official then explained that the doors had only been marked in view of the taking of a census. These promises, however, would not do for the women; and, much against his will, he was compelled to write his statement down and se

MASONIC BANQUET AT HYDERABAD.

Nawab Syed Hassain Bilgrami Honoured.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SECUNDERABAD, SEPTEMBER 5.

A notable Masonic banquet was held at Golkamal, Hyderabad, to commemorate the installation last June of Worshipful Brother Nawab Syed Hasain Bilgrami, Mad-ul-Mulk Bahadur, C.S.I. late of India Council as Worshipful Master of the Lodge Deccan 1444 E. C. A large number of prominent Masons and officials were present. In proposing the toast, "The Nizam and the land we live in" Worshipful Brother H. Coote Cooney, M. A., said—His Highness was blessed with all the attributes of freemasonry, especially the cardinal virtue of charity. The history of Hyderabad during His Highness's reign is remarkable for the contentment and prosperity of the people, the fruit of his unceasing care for its welfare, for which his people adore him. This intense love for their ruler is the foundation of loyalty and good-will to the British Throne, of Hyderabad. When the Freemasons of Hyderabad on the occasion of His Highness' Jubilee presented an address he replied he was much in sympathy with the order which is calculated to improve good feelings and harmony among all the different creeds and classes in his dominions.

Worshipful Brother Lee, in proposing the Worshipful Master and officers said the Nawab came new into the office with a reputation greatly enhanced and honoured by Government and the King-Emperor. Freemasonry to him was no empty form because he realises the duties and responsibilities of Freemasonry to the full, especially Freemasonry in India and regard it from the highest point of view.

In responding the Worshipful Master returned thanks and said he was one of the oldest members of the Lodge Deccan, having joined in 1873. He considered it his duty to respond to the call and having taken the plunge he was glad he had the services of such a capable Mason as Worshipful Brother Lee as Secretary. He added, Freemasonry, especially in India, is a most powerful medium of bringing together all classes, Moslem, Christian, Jew, high and low caste Hindu. Freemasonry levels all differences. His own religon, Islam, had also done much in that direction. but it does not go beyond the fold. All religions have this restriction, but in Masonry men of all creeds unite and that is a distinction which Masonry and no other institution enjoys. It includes all virtues taught by every creed though perhaps in a different way. Masonry is an ancient institution and like all great institutions belongs to the East and the Asiatics are proud of it.

CHOLERA IN SIMLA HILLS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, SEPTEMBER 5.

Cholera continues to spread in the Simla Hills. The villages affected are mostly in the valley below Narkhanda and Baghi, some thirty or forty miles from the station and the extent of the disease may be judged from the fact that in the worst affected village there have been up to the 2nd instant forty-seven cases of which twenty-two have terminated fatally. Precautions are being taken to protect the catchment area of the Simla watersupply from contamination and the Viceregal and other autumnal shooting trips into this part of the interior are being modified to avoid the infected area.

He has been in jail for about six weeks." Under the circumstances his Honour directed that he be detained in custody to the rising of the Court.

THE POONA SEASON.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, SEPT. 4.

The fortnightly dance at the Gymkhana last week took the form of a small fancy dress ball. It was admirably organised by Captain Moir, and there were a great number of people present. "Dressing-up" has always a fascination of its own and this added to the fact that a little rouge is regarded by everyone as quite legitimate on these occasions and lends a greater air of gaiety and hilarity than is displayed at more sober dances in ordinary evening dress. One of the best dressed amongst the ladies was Miss Appleby as a "Merry Widow" and another pretty dress also borrowed from the stage was Miss Palin's "Dollar Princess," while there was also a "Little Miche" and a "Belle of New York." A carefully thought-out costume was Mrs. Morris's Welshwoman, since described by an obvious Sassenach as a "Wildwoman." Amongst the peasants were, Miss Westmacott as a Russian and Miss Guider as an Italian and Miss Gibbs made a dainty little "Pierrette in red and white. Miss Thom appeared as a Puritan; and Mrs. Wood, as Melisande, wore wonderful green and gold draperies which were very effective. Miss Swann's Greek dress was another artistic design. A Dick Tarpin in a mask baffled a great many people's curiosity, but was eventually discovered to be Mrs. Dyson. Miss Shuttleworth looked well as a Dutch girl and Miss Crawford as a duellist in black satin with a white silk blouse. Mrs. Gell, Mrs. Humphreys and several others were pendre. One of the best of the men's costumes was the buccaneer's dress of Mr. Barney as Captain Kenle, the favourite dresses were as usual cooks and pierrots, but Mr. Harvey Kelly made an admirable Hedge and Captain Drummond as "coffee for one." Col. Baddeley in the court dress of 1820, Mr. Webb as a Pathan and a Salvajirao were all worth noticing. Teen was the usual comic element supplied by a ubiquitous long-tailed monkey and one or two costumes which recalled the manly heroines who delight the hearts of the children at Drury Lane Pantomime. The dance music was provided by the 30th Carnatic Infantry band and an unusually large number of dinners and suppers were given at the Gymkhana.

The junior polo tournament was doomed to suffer again from the rain. All play was suspended the week before last, but the semi-finals were successfully held last Monday in spite of a storm in the middle of the proceedings. Major Hill and the officers of the 12th Pioneers were "At Home" and the results of the games were a victory over the Rabbits for the R. E.'s, all four of the latter's goals being scored by Major Bremner and a victory for the 32cd who rather unexpectedly defeated the 26th Light Cavalry. On Wednesday Colonel Baddeley and the Officers R. E. were "At Home" for what was to have been the finals; but the rain came down in torrents and rendered further play impossible after the third chukker, the scores standing at one goal (scored by Bremner again) to the R. E.'s and two goals to the 32rd Cavalry. Polo always attracts a good number of spectators, but on Thursday there was a larger number than usual lining the polo ground with all those accompaniments of booths and sweet and cigarette stalls which a festive occasion always produces and it was great disappointment that the day ended so unfortunately. Saturday morning, however, really did see the end of this tournament. The last tie had to be played again from the beginning and ended in a win for the 33rd Cavalry by four goals to two. The ground was very heavy after the downpour of Friday night and there were no opportunities for anything brilliant or fast in the way of play, and indeed several times the ball had to be literally dug out of muddy hollows.

On Tuesday an interesting lecture was given at the Gymkhana by Mr. Cousens, Superintendent of the Archæological Survey. Mr. Cousens' name has been before the public lately in connection with his discoveries at Mirpurkhas and it is a matter for regret that this lecture was not more widely advertised, for there is no doubt it would have attracted a far larger audience if it had been publicly notified. The subjec was Indian archæology and Mr. Cousens illustrated what he had to say with some excellent magic lantern slides taken from his own photographs. He dealt entirely with the buildings and various styles of architecture of Western India, Buddhist, Dravidian, Jain, Hindu, Mohammedan, Portuguese and Dutch, all distinctive, though each shows traces of earlier influences. There were several pictures of the Sanchi top, the camera in some cases showing details such as the ordinary eye would not be able to distinguish on the spot, notably a carving of a number of faces showing extraordinarily modern types of features and everyone easily identified the Gladstone who was pointed out. The pictures of some of the ceilings at Mount Abu were very beautiful and must have entailed on the camera all sorts of unnatural positions. Mr. Cousens related apropos of these that the workmen were paid for their labour in gold, the gold being weighed against the amount of dust that had been worn away each day in the carving, the designs being so minute and elaborate that only the finest fragments could be removed at a time. There were some fine pictures of the buildings at Ahmedabad and Bijapur, some of these were tinted and a particularly effective one was of one of the Bijapur tombs with its domes and minarets standing out against the setting sun. Other coloured ones included some jungle women from Kanara, loaded with many pounds weight of bead necklaces and a tomb at Surat, a favourite place of carousal in the Dutch days.

A thudgi, or memorial stone and a picture of a Sahib camping in a tomb, gave an opportunity for detailing some of the vandalisms of which public bodies and others are guilty in this country, a stigma which, however, they share with economical utilitarians all the world over. Mr. Cousens concluded with some pictures of the large Buddhist dagobs at Mirpurkhas which he has recently unearthed. It contains in its inmost and hitherto unviolated sanctuary a tiny relic in a small crystal bottle and this relic with the bottles, some beads, coins, and figures of Buddha are at present in the Archæological Museum here, but presumably are destined for the big Mu-seum in Bombay. There seems to be no demand for them by any one of the Buddhist faith.

Hunting goes on as usual, the meet on Thursday was at the 9th milestone on the Nasik Road and the few who turned out were well rewarded. The night before, the prospects in Poona of anything like a good run seemed almost nil as nearly 1 1-2 inches fell after 5 p. m. on Wednesday and the majority of the regular hunting people chose what they thought was the better part and stayed at home, in fact only about a dozen riders, including one lady, were there to follow the hounds for the two excellent runs provided. The first lasted for forty minutes over quite good grass lands, the jack taking refuge at last in the Sisters where he saved his brush. The second run towards Chinchwad was unanimously voted the fastest of the season and the jack gave a hard three-mile gallop before hounds bowled him over. Sunday's hunting was really remarkable, starting from the 8th milestone on the Bombay road, hounds soon found a jack who took a line over grass country crossing the Nasik and Alandi roads and going right behind the Sisters when he swung left handed and went almost down to the Indryani river where he turned left again recrossing both roads after which hounds ran out of scent. With several short checks hounds were running hard for over an hour and a half, but there is little doubt that several animals, including a chink, were responsible for the run and hounds and horses were fairly at a standstill when a move was made for home.

Poona is just about as full as it can be. Polo teams are much in evidence and the racing crowd simply jostling. A new element has been added this week by the arrival, from all parts, of Civilians who have torn themselves away from the cares of State and the tyranny of office tables to revel for a few days in Poona. During the I. C. S. Week they defeated Poona at golf on Friday by a narrow margin and next day played an inconclusive tennis match with the Gymkhana, the result of which no one seemed to know and on Monday and Tuesday they play the Gymkhana at cricket.

On Saturday night they dined over sixty strong and on Monday they give their ball. It is a great gathering from the districts and while the young Civilians dispert themselves on the tennis courts and the more man takes stock of the dresses that have caused the dudgies of so many loosilities such labour for months past, the heads of districts wag their heads together and discuss affairs of State and the MILITARY MATTERS.

(FROM OUR MILITARY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, AUGUST 19.

CONCLUDING his criticism of the recent Territorial camp, a military correspondent writes :—During the three years of its existence the Territorial system has enjoyed every advantage it is ever likely to enjoy. It has received the spontaneous and unselfish support of both political parties; it has enjoyed an unexampled boom of flag-waving patriotism; it has received the beneficent consideration of every patriotic employer of labour. What is the result? The nation surely has a right to know; nay more it is the duty of the nation and of the Government to find out. If it is sound given all these advantages, that even now the Territorial Army is not fit for the purpose for which it has been created, than the sooner the nation is made aware of the fact the sooner will it be able to evolve some machine which will be efficient. If on the other hand, it is proven that, with all its inevitable faults and its minor failings, it still answers the purpose for which it was designed, then the nation, and the territorial Army itself, should be informed of the fact, and those critics who speaks slightingly of its efficiency should be silenced once and for all. Apart from the findings of a Royal Commission, there is only one way of settling the question, only one voice that would carry absolute conviction, only one man whose opinion would outweigh the cacklings of all those who consider themselves qualified to express an opinion at all. The nation, the patriot, every officer, non-commissioned officer, and man of the Territorial Army itself desires ardently to hear that voice, to hear the clear-headed criticism, the calculated opinion of that great soldier and organiser whose presence at home appears to occasion so much concern and embarrassment to all time-serving politicians and soldiers. We have heard opinions by the score and ad nauseam. Mr. Haldane and Lord Lucas are constant in their praises, such men as our veteran Field-Marshal, Lord Middleton, and Mr. Wyndham are equally constant in their pessimism, Lord Esher, Lord Derby, and other experts remain unconvinced; but the one man whose opinion the nation is anxious to know preserves the silence of the Sphinx, the silence of authoritative wisdom. It is to be hoped that before long wisdom will speak to the nation in the strong, unbiased, convincing tones of Field-Marshal Viscount Kitchener. We are tired of "we believe," "we think," we contend," "we suggest." We want to know the truth, the naked truth, even if we do not like it when we get it.

TENDING THE WOUNDED.

Another old soldier, who served as an orderly or ward sergeant in the Scutari Hospital with the late Miss Florence Nightingale, is still alive. He is Sergeon Thomas Settle, late of the 7th Royal Fusiliers, who is now living on a pension after twenty-five years' service in the West Riding Constabulary at Holmfirth, near Huddersfield. Settle was wounded in two places, at the storming of the Redan and the taking of Sebastopol. Taken to Scutari, he was appointed ward sergeant when Miss Nightingale first went to the hospital, and acted in that capacity for the great nurse for about nine months. Sergeant Settle told a "Daily Telegraph" representative yesterday that the patients revered Miss Nightingale for her humane efforts to alleviate their suffering. He recalled one instance when, owing to strict military discipline, he was unable to grant a special request made to him by Miss Nightingale. The ward was full of wounded soldiers. They were lying on their beds practically naked. A large quantity of hospital stores and clothing had been locked up. Miss Nightingale was anxious to attend to the patients, but could not do so until she could gain access to the stores. She applied to official quarters for permission to open the store-room door, but before permission arrived, three days after the application was made, Miss Nightingale sought to gain access by other means. She asked Sergeant Settle to break down the door of the store-room. "I told her I dare not do it," said Sergeant Settle, "because it was contrary to orders, and I was afraid of being court-martialled. She asked other British soldiers to break down the door, but they also refused for the same reason. Eventually she appealed to three Turkish soldiers, who obliged her in a trice. Miss Nightingale then went into the store-room, handed me out the clothing, and I took them in and dressed the patients." Settle sent Miss Nightingale an interesting letter recalling this incident on the attainment of her 90th birthday, and she gratefully acknowledged it, and a photograph which was enclosed in it.

THE WAR OF 1812-14.

The patriotic, historical, and military bodies in Canada have combined for the purpose of forming a Centenary Association, for the purpose of commemorating between 1912 and 1914 on an adequate scale the successful defence of Canada in the war 1812-14, and the preservation to the Crown of their scattered provinces and territories in British North America. The various provinces have responded cordially to the suggestion, and a central committee has received assurance of a hearty and sympathetic support from the Mother Country. The preliminary programme which has been proposed and adopted includes a national monument to commemorate the event, and a great historical pageant to be held at Toronto, illustrating the history and progress of the country from the early-at time to the present day. Besides this, central pageant, it is intended to hold various local celebration in the districts which were prominent scenes of the war 1812-14. For this purpose an effort will be made to organise the local patriotic and historical bodies in the western part of Ontario, on the Niagra frontier, in the Montreal district, and at several intervening points where important engagements were fought, into district associations. Finally, it is proposed to invite various Governments of the British Empire, France, and the United States to send representatives, civil, military, and naval, to meet on the Niagara frontier, to demonstrate their present friendship and their mutual interest in maintaining the peaceful relations which 1915 will have existed between these three great nations for 100 years.

MILITARY AVIATION.

It is now stated that, by order of the Minister of War, military aviators who are present in the neighbourhood of Amiens are to take part in to-morrow's fight over the last stage of the aerial circuit from Amiens to Paris. There is certainly good foundation for this statement, as three officers, Lieutenants Cammermann, Acquavive, and Lotheux, started their aeroplanes from different parts of the country this morning, and arrived at Amiens. The success of the army pilots almost equals that of the non-military aviators, and they would meet with an enthusiastic reception in Paris. Great satisfaction has been expressed at the statement of M. Clemental, President of the Committee on the Army Estimates, that the War Office had given orders for fifty new aeroplanes, and that systematic training of young officers would be undertaken. A special brevet will be given to officers who successfully make a trial flight of 100 kilometres at an average height of 600 metres. At the same time, a special kind of military aeroplane is to be planned, which will be capable of transporting three passengers over a distance of 200 kilometres, with or without arms, and which may, if necessary, be rapidly folded and packed to be transported by rail. The Chamber, when it meets again, is to be asked to vote the required sums to cover the expenses. Ten aeroplanes and two steerable balloons will take part in the forthcoming general manœuvres. There are at present some twenty young army officers in France who have given proof of great talent for aviation, and their services will be required for the first time in determining the movements of the Barindra, Udarkar, books 'Mukti Kon Pathe' and troops. The two steerable balloons will be under the direct orders of the general in supreme command, who will use them as he deems best. Each steerable will be aided by an aeroplane, which is to act as scout and to report on the condition of the atmosphere. The other eight aeroplanes will be equally divided between the commanders of the two opposing armies. Taus four machines have been assigned to General Picquart, commander of the 2nd Army Corps, and the other four will be used by General Maunier, of the 3rd Army Corps. The rules for aeroplanes manœuvring against each other are now being drawn up at the Ministry of War. One of the points resolved upon is that when two aeroplanes come within a certain distance of each other the one which is at the greatest height will be supposed to have triumphed and the other will be considered disabled for the day.

THE BALACLAVA CHARGE.

There are believed to be only thirty-two survivors of the rank-and-file who took part in the historic charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava, and of these twenty-two are in necessitous circumstances. The oldest is 86 years of age, and but for philan-death of Miss Florence Nightingale, the need for money to aid these old Heroes will assuredly not be allowed to exist for a single day. It is thirteen years since Mr. T. H. Roberts, of 1 and 2, Ploughcourt, E.C., established the Balaclava Light Brigade Charge Survivors' Relief Fund. At the banquet then held seventy-four men attended, and it was discovered that several of them were spending their last days in workhouses—forgotten and neglected.

In the intervening years more than half these heroes have gone to their rest, and it is a duty which the nation owes to itself that, some of the survivors shall be again permitted to need any of the simple comforts which can add a solace to their last days. The work of aiding these veterans, it need hardly be added, has lost a sympathiser and supporter in Miss Nightingale. The money which goes to these neglected heroes is well spent. They are sent weekly pensions by post, and when at length the "Last Post" sounds each of the old men receives a decent funeral.

After the Army manœuvres considerable changes will be made in the constitution of the Aldershot Command. The 7th Hussars will leave the command for Honslow, the 1st Scots Guards for the Tower, the 1st Irish Guards for Chatley, the 3rd East Kent for Dublin, the 2nd Lincolnshire for Portsmouth, the 2nd Royal Irish for Guernsey, the 1st Worcestershire for Parkhurst, the 2nd Yorkshire Light Infantry for Cork, the 1st Gordon Highlanders for Colchester, and the 3rd Battalion Rifle Brigade for Tipperary. The places vacated by these units will be taken by the 2nd Dragoon Guards from Hounslow, the 2nd Battalions of the Grenadier and Coldstream Guards from London (Wellington Barracks), the 2nd Suffolk from Parkhurst, the 1st Bedfordshire from Colchester, the 2nd Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers, from Dublin, the 2nd Border, from Sheffield, the 1st Hampshire from Londonderry, the 1st Dorsetshire from Portsmouth, and the 2nd Middlesex from Guernsey.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

DACCA, SEPT. 5.

The Court resumed the hearing of the Dacca Conspiracy case at 10 30 a.m. to-day, the witness a Satyaprasana Ghosh, pleader, states :—I went to Manikganj in connection with a gang case there. I saw a mock fight between the young men of Manikganj and the neighbouring villages. Shortly before the fight I saw some men arranging the field. One of them was Pulin Benary Das. Two daggers were found in the boat. The boat belonged to Nitmoni Nath Nimoni's maternal uncle, a dafadar informed the witness that the boat was stolen from Nilmoni's ghat. Nilmony was not found then, but as seven eight days after he was found in a house at Lakshi Bazar, Dacca, with two of the accused he was taken to the Dacca station. Nimoni stated that one of the Lalmoys office and some other boys brought him away from his house to Dacca and that some pleaders and muktears forced him to sign and present a petition to the court to the effect that he hired away his boat to Trailokya Chackravorty. I saw then Sitanamath, father of Santipada, coming out of the house carrying something in his hand. I followed him and found him dropping a piece of paper, I picked up that proves the piece of paper over the signature of Hajindrachandra Guha) That substance of the contents is "Bearer of this is one of ours trust him." I searched the house of Lalit Roy on 3rd August last. Proves a cutting from the Sanjibani, containing a letter from Aurobinda Ghosh.

Consideration was given to an application of the Commissioner for sanction to fill in a well in Bomonji Lane.

Mr. James MacDonald moved that the sanction be given.

Mr. S. S. Mistry moved as an amendment that the matter be referred back to the Commissioner and he be requested to report if a covering on the well would not answer the purpose.

Dr. Sukhia seconded the amendment, remarking that it was not proved the well was contaminated by village water.

Dr. Collie pointed out that on the report of the Health Officer the Commissioner had asked for the sanction and that was a radical step to take and a much reasonable thing to do.

Dr. Master said that as was urged by Dr. Sukhia it must be proved that the well was contaminated.

Mr. C. V. Mehta reminded the Corporation that recently the Standing Committee had sanctioned the filling in of several wells in the Fort on the ground that the water contained mosquito larvæ. The water of the well in question was found to contain mosquito larvæ and it was no use delaying it being filled in.

On a division the amendment was lost and Mr. MacDonald's proposition was agreed to.

THE CHOWPATTI RAILWAY CROSSING.

Consideration was given to a letter from the Commissioner, intimating that the Agent of the B. B. and C. I. Railway intended to close the Chowpatti wicket gate. He (the Commissioner) suggested a foot bridge instead.

The Commissioner's letter ran:—"With reference to the correspondence ending with the Corporation Resolution No. 3889 of 4th October 1909, regarding the closing of the Chowpatti Level Crossing I have the honour to state that, so far as vehicular traffic is concerned, the Railway Company have closed the level crossing with effect from 1st October 1909. They had, however, allowed the wicket gates to remain in the Railway fencing near the old level crossing for the use of the heavy pedestrian traffic to and from the sea-shore, but the Agent of the Company has now intimated his intention of closing the wicket gates also as he is entitled to do. The closing of these gates will, if no substitute for them is provided, cause serious inconvenience to the thousands of people crossing from the town to the sea-shore and the gardens, and I am of opinion that a foot-bridge should be provided in lieu of the gates. The Executive Engineer estimates the cost of a foot-bridge at Rs. 20,000 and I forward herewith a plan showing the proposed bridge and its location. The Railway Company have agreed to the site and if the Corporation accord their sanction to the construction of the bridge, the necessary funds will be provided in the next year's Budget. In the meantime I have requested the Agent, B. B and C. I. Railway Company, to defer the closing of the present foot level crossing.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtulla proposed that the matter be referred to a Committee. He said that the Corporation had to carefully consider the respective liability of providing crossings between Grant Road and Colaba. The Chairman could be in a position, after mature consideration, to point out exactly how far the liability of providing an overbridge in addition to the Sandhurst bridge lay on the B. B. and C. I. Railway Company.

The proposal was agreed to.

DESTRUCTION OF UNWHOLESOME FOOD

The Commissioner forwarded for the information of the Corporation a return showing the quantity of unwholesome food, &c., destroyed by the Markets Department during the month of May 1910 and stated that though in April and May 20 prosecutions were instituted against persons importing contraband meat, it was only possible to proceed with 3, the punishments inflicted being fines of Rs. 10, Rs. 10 and Rs. 7. In the other cases it has been impossible to serve the summonses. As it was not possible immediately to place persons found bringing contraband meat before the Magistrates, wrong names and addresses were almost invariably given. The Commissioner of Police was being asked whether he could assist the Municipality further.

A summary of the return referred to showed the quantities of different stuffs destroyed in different markets in Bombay as follows:—Beef, 1,559 lbs, Mutton 874 lbs, Fish 7,037 lbs, Fowls 383 lbs, Vegetable 100 lbs, Contraband meat seized and destroyed 9,128 lbs.

Dr. Sukhia moved that the letter be recorded.

The Hon'ble A. Hill Trevor observed that the Police Commissioner would be the proper officer to assist the Municipality and he hoped his assistance would be very valuable in detecting and consequently effectively checking the offences.

Mr. Bapista wished to know if there was any truth in the reports abroad that the arrested cases were not genuine and whether they were simply reported to justify the employment of a special officer to detect cases of importing contraband meat. He also desired to know if the meat was bad or whether it was seized, because it was contraband, the animals not having been slaughtered in the Municipal Slaughterhouse. He also suggested that perhaps enough of particular kind of meat was not available and hence the illicit import. He was told that more than a certain number of buffaloes were not permitted to be slaughtered.

The Commissioner explained that since the Police Commissioner's help was requested policemen were put up on the Koorla bridge to help the Municipal men. As to Mr. Bapista's statement he did not think there ever was a limit put to the number of animals to be slaughtered.

The letter was recorded.

CORPORATION AND THE IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

The Corporation considered as an urgent matter a letter from the Commissioner with regard to the payment which became due to the Improvement Trust on 1st December last, under section 73 (3) of the Improvement Trust.

The Commissioner reported: "A payment became due to the Improvement Trust on 1st December last under Section 73 (3) of the Improvement Trust Act, and that the amount so payable was still a matter for discussion between the Chairman of the Trust and the Commissioner, I have the honour to state that most of the points at issue have now been settled and I forward herewith a statement showing the amount so far found to be due to the Trust, and request the sanction of the Standing Committee and the Corporation to an additional grant of Rs. 52,300 from Surplus Cash Balance to meet the charge. From the statement it will be seen that the total amount due to the Trust is Rs. 53,300 against which there is a Budget provision of only Rs. 1,000. There are still a few minor points of difference between the Chairman and myself such as the exact amount of the cost of cleansing and maintenance of streets, etc., which I hope to be able to settle at an early date. Should there be any difference in the amount now found due to the Trust and that which may hereafter be found due, the Standing Committee and the Corporation will duly be informed of it. There will be a further claim from the Trust on account of increase in the valuation of properties situated within 80 feet of the new roads, on either side. In the meantime I see no reason to further defer payment of the above amount."

The Hon'ble Mr. Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy proposed that as recommended by the Standing Committee and in circumstances mentioned in the Commissioner's letter an additional Budget grant of Rs. 52,300 be made under Section 131 of the Municipal Act from Surplus Cash Balance to meet the payments due to the City Improvement Trust under Section 73 (2) of the City of Bombay Improvement Act.

The Honourable Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtulla in a long speech pointed out that the payment was not equitably fixed and he proposed to continue the attitude the Corporation had taken up from the beginning of objecting to section 73 (3) of the Improvement Trust Act. He said that they were liable to pay 3 to 4 lakhs of rupees in addition to the nine lakhs of rupees, and taking the Municipal revenue from general taxes to be 48 lakhs exactly 25 per cent. was to be paid to the Improvement Trust which to his mind was very hard for the rate-payers. They would admit, he said, that it was an enormous amount to be paid by the Corporation. Mr. Ebrahim then suggested that unless the Corporation were prepared to apply to Government to amend the Act and give them power to levy 15 or 16 per cent. of general tax instead of 12 per cent. the maximum, they should not continue to pay the large amounts that are annually required from them by the Improvement Trust. He did not know why the payment should be made until the entire accounts were made up and all the provisions of Section 370 were fulfilled. He expected that in view of the feelings of the Corporation Government would think it advisable on a full consideration to grant what the Corporation wanted. He would, therefore, suggest as a rider to the Standing Committee's recommendation if accepted by its Chairman or move it as an amendment to his proposal that the recommendation for the payment be accepted without prejudice to the various contentions in the matter of liabilities under sub-sections.

The Hon'ble Mr. Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy accepted the rider.

Mr. Joseph Baptista moved an amendment that the matter be referred to a Committee to consider and report in consultation with the Commissioner. He hoped the Commissioner would have no objection to this reference.

Mr. Mantri seconded the amendment.

Mr. Cadell, the Municipal Commissioner, said that as a matter of fact he did not understand why the suggestion was attacked so strongly. He and the other Municipal Officers had examined the statements of account and as far as they were concerned the accounts was correct it might not be complete. Mr. Ebrahim had made a point that until the accounts were made up the payment should not be made. But while accounts were to be adjusted it was customary to prepare it and in the end the amount was either refunded or made up as the case might be. The section required that the payment to be settled between the Corporation and the Chairman of the Trust. The Commissioner therefore glad personally that Mr. and he was not prepared to refuse or delay. Ibrahim did The course suggested by because if the Corporation claim was very dignified, man of the Improvement Trust would have gone to Government refused to pay the Chairto Government vement Trust would have gone the bludgeon and they would have applied Again this clause and taken the money. surprise thing did not spring on them as a because he believed Mr. Sheppard had already informed the Corporation that a balance would remain due to the Trust at the end of the year. Mr. Cadell could not understand what good a Committee would be. It only meant very long delay. As regarded the spirit of the section he was not concerned. He knew that a great number of the councillors objected to the section. Legislature had fixed 2 per cent. and additional burden under section 73. He was sure the Government of Bombay were prepared to give as sympathetic a listening as they could. under the circumstances it was very dignified not to refuse or delay.

Mr. Wacha said that in view of the Commissioner's explanation it would be better for Mr. Baptista to withdraw his amendment.

Mr. Jehangir Petit supported the amendment of Mr. Baptista.

Sir Bhalchandra Krishna said that it would be only dignified for the Corporation to accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Mr. Ebrahim Rahimtulla which suggested that the Corporation should make the payment without prejudice to the contentions as to the liability of making the payment to the Improvement Trust.

On a division Mr. Baptista's amendment was rejected and the original motion, with Mr. Ebrahim Rahemtulla's rider, was agreed to.

The Corporation then adjourned to Thursday the 15th instant.

WIDENING THE QUEEN'S ROAD.

The Committee, appointed to consider and report on the question of widening the Queen's Road from Church Gate Street to Wodehouse Bridge, has submitted the following report:

"By Corporation Resolution No. 5345, dated the 22nd December 1907, the question of the improvement of this roadway was referred specifically to the Committee of the Corporation regarding street refuges. After careful consideration that Committee recommended that the roadway be improved by throwing into it a strip of ground 15 feet wide from the vacant plot of ground on the west belonging to Government. This recommendation was accepted by Corporation Resolution No. 727, dated the 9th April 1908, and the Commissioner was requested to approach Government with a request that the strip of ground may be handed over to the Municipality for the improvement.

With reference to this request the Commissioner was informed by the Under-Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, that subject to the sanction of the Government of India the Government of Bombay were prepared to give free of charge land measuring 6,480 square yards for the purpose of increasing the width of the Queen's Road from 35 to 50 feet between the Church Gate Station and the Wodehouse Bridge on the following conditions:—(1) That a low dwarf wall similar to the existing wall of neat appearance and paved on top be constructed on the boundary of the land just clear of the proposed new 10 feet footpath that is to run on the west of the road, i.e., on land to remain in the possession of Government; such wall to vest in Government after completion; (2) that the land shall be liable to be resumed by Government if used for other than the specific purpose for which it is granted; (3) that should the land be at any time resumed by Government, the compensation payable therefore shall not exceed the cost or the present value, whichever shall be less, of any works executed on the land by the Municipality; (4) that the land shall not at any time be built upon.

Government also suggested that the corner at the southern end of the road may be eased off and the proposed footpath may be paved.

The cost of widening the road and of constructing a kutcha footpath and a new parapet wall with the necessary drainage arrangements and improved lighting was estimated by the Executive Engineer at Rs. 48,646, and the cost of paving the footpath at Rs. 22,983 for Tandur stone pavement or Rs. 26,270 for blue stone pavement. At the request of the Committee these estimates have been revised by the Executive Engineer and the final estimates amount to Rs. 28,359, including the cost of a footpath which the Committee consider should be of tarred macadam. The Committee recommend that these revised estimates be approved and that the terms on which the area is offered by Government be accepted. The question of acquiring a portion of the Bombay Presidency Trades Association Gymkhana ground need not be considered at present, in view of the proposal approved by Corporation Resolution No. 2068, dated the 12th July 1909, to ease off the corner of the Cooperage on the opposite side. When that improvement is effected the Corporation will be in a better position to judge whether or not the acquisition of a portion of the Trades Association Gymkhana ground is desirable or necessary.

SURCHARGING OF THE SEWERS.

With reference to the Standing Committee's Resolution of 8th September 1909, authorising the Commissioner to enter into a contract with Messrs. S. S. Steel and Co., for the supply of screens and dredgers required in connection with the measures for the remedying of the surcharging of the sewers in the City at a cost of Rs. 1,44,000 and Corporation Resolution of 4th October 1909 regarding the same, the Commissioner forwarded a copy of a letter of 10th August 1910 from the Deputy Executive Engineer, Drainage, submitting plans and estimates for the dredging and screening chambers to be constructed in connection with the machinery and to request the sanction of the Standing Committee and the Corporation to the work being carried out at a cost of Rs. 3,41,909.

In forwarding the above letter the Commissioner stated:—A provision of Rs. 10,00,000 has been made in the current year's Budget under Advances (vide page 135) for the cost of the work in connection with the measures for relieving the surcharging of sewers as per memo marked A sent herewith, and I request the sanction of the Standing Committee and the Corporation to the expenditure on the above work during the current year being temporarily met out of the above advance as the full amount of Rs. 10,06,000 will not be required during the year for expenditure on the works for which it is intended. The estimated cost of the work of constructing the chambers will be provided in the next year's Loan Works Budget under Advances pending the raising of a loan in future.

It is understood from Mr. Midgley Taylor that the dredging and screening machinery will arrive in Bombay in a short time and the work of the chambers should therefore be put in hand as early as possible.

FERGUSSON ROAD MURDER.

Sawalia Murgoo, 30, was then placed before a special jury, consisting of Mr. William Jack (Foreman), Messrs. Meyer Misra, Ramrow G. Jayakar, James Murdoch, Balkrishna Ramchandra Navalkar, Surjorji Sorabji M. Cooper, Ahmed N. Fatehalli, N. S. Takakao and Jehangir M. Cutchegar on charges of the murder of Sukharam Sabba and an attempt to murder his wife Nanibai by stabbing them with a knife on the evening of the 12th July last.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General and Mr. Pradhan, instructed by the Public Prosecutor, conducted the prosecution; the accused was defended by Mr. J. K. Tarachand.

The Advocate-General, in opening the Crown case, read the sections of the Penal Code bearing on the charges and said that the accused, his wife and the deceased lived in a chawl at Fergusson Road. The accused suspected his wife of criminal intimacy with the deceased who was their neighbour and they had frequent quarrels. On the evening of the 12th July last when the deceased returned from his work, the accused attacked him with a knife and drove it into his abdomen. The deceased ran about some fifty yards, fell down and died. The accused then attacked his wife and she received injuries to her hand while avoiding the blow which the accused had aimed at her stomach. He then ran away but next day surrendered himself to the Police. Before the Committing Magistrate, the accused had made a statement which was in the nature of a confession.

Evidence was then led and the accused, in his statement to the Court, said that as he received provocation from his wife, he attacked both.

The jury, by a majority of six to three, found the accused guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and unanimously guilty of attempt at culpable homicide not amounting to murder.

His Lordship sentenced the accused to transportation for life on the first charge and seven years' rigorous imprisonment on the second charge.

CASE TRAVERSED.

Gopal Rama, Yeshwedabai, Rowji Chandra and Nao Bai were then placed in the dock with the murder and abetment thereof of a newly born child.

The Advocate-General, with Mr. J. H. Vakeel, prosecuted; Mr. C. Oliver, defended the accused.

The Advocate-General asked the Court to traverse the case to the next Sessions as no medical evidence was available.

Mr. Oliver left the matter to the Court.

The Sessions were then adjourned till 11 a.m. to-day.

BABA MAHARAJ'S ESTATE.

Question of Adoption.

HEARING OF THE APPEAL.

On the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble Justice Sir Narayan G. Chandavarkar and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Heaton began the hearing of the appeal of Shri Harihar Vasudeo Pandit alias Baba Maharaj and others against a decision of Mr. J. L. Thakor, First Class Subordinate Judge of Poona, who had decreed the claim of Bal Gangadhar Tilak and others against Shri Sakwarbai alias Tai Maharaj and others for a declaration that the fourth plaintiff, a minor, was the adopted son of the deceased Shri Vasudeo Harihar Pandit alias Baba Maharaj and various other reliefs.

Mr. M. R. Jayakar, instructed by Mr. P. P. Khan, appeared for the appellants; Mr. D. A. Khare appeared for the respondents. The plaintiffs in this suit were Bal Gangadhar Tilak, G. S. Khaparde, S. S. Kambhojkar and Shri Jagannath Vasudeo Pandit Maharaj. The defendants were Sakwarbai alias Tai Maharaj, B. M. Nagpurkar and Shri Shriniwas Pandit alias Baba Maharaj.

It appeared that Shri Vasudeo Harihar Pandit alias Shri Baba Msharaj, a first class Sirdar in the Deccan, died of cholera at Poona on the evening of the 7th August 1897. He was possessed of considerable properties in British territories as well as in the Native State of Kolhapur. He left him surviving a young widow, scarcely of 16 years of age, Shri Tai Msharaj, who was then pregnant, a very young daughter by her and two daughters by his predeceased wife. On the morning of the date of his death, he made a short registered will consisting of three paras only. Thereby he appointed five gentlemen, the first three plaintiffs, the second defendant and Rao Saheb Kirtikar as trustees. He gave the trustees power to administer his estate in the same manner as he did and provided that "in case a son were not born to his wife or in case one born became short lived, the trustees giving an adopted son of their choice should administer the estate on his behalf until he attained majority." Immediately on the death of the testator, the first four trustees assumed management of the estate, Rao Saheb Kirtikar declining to accept the responsibility. The trustees then obtained a probate of the will and the property was then estimated at two lacs of rupees.

In January 1898 a son was born to the widow of the testator, but died on 9th March 1898. On the death of the son there arose an occasion for adoption as directed in the will. After several consultations between the trustees and Tai Maharaj, it was resolved in June 1901 that the first two plaintiffs and Tai Maharaj should go to Baroda where there were descendants of a brother of Shri Shideshwar Maharaj, the ancestor of the family of the deceased, and see if there was any boy suitable for adoption and select him if there was one. In pursuance of that resolution, they proceeded to Aurangabad. The first two plaintiffs went to Nidhone and brought five boys. The fourth plaintiff was found to be the best of them for adoption in a meeting of sinastris and gentry of the place held on 27th June 1901 and selected and verbal gift and acceptance made, mutual documents, deed of adoption, etc. were passed on the 28th and the party returned to Poona on the same day. After her return Tai Maharaj sent 'yadis' to the agent for Sirdars and others of what was done at Aurangabad, etc. Sometime after the 30th June, Tai Maharaj thought of adopting the third defendant. The first three plaintiffs as trustees were opposed to it and on their persuasion the intended adoption of the third defendant was postponed for a time. Tilak, the first plaintiff, then filed a suit against Tai Maharaj and others for an injunction to adopt the third defendant, but as he did not pay the process fees etc., the suit was dismissed in August 1901. Ultimately, however, she went to Kolhapur and there adopted the third defendant on the 20th July 1901. Tai Maharaj then applied to the District Court on 29th July 1901 for cancellation of probate granted to the plaintiffs and the second defendant. The plaintiffs then instituted this suit on 23rd September 1901. The District Court revoked the probate on 15th April 1902. The High Court, on appeal, reversed the district Court's order on 19th August 1902. Shri Tai Maharaj died on 30th September 1902. The Collectors of Poona, Satara and Belgaum were then appointed administrators of the property lying within their charges and Nazir of the district court administrator of the moveable property in Poona on 22nd December 1903.

On behalf of the defendants in suit, it was contended that the plaintiffs could not maintain this suit, as the property of the deceased was ancestral and that he had no power to make a will; it was further contended that the will, at any rate, became useless and inoperative on the birth of a posthumous son and on his death the inheritance vested in Tai Maharaj as his mother.

The learned judge held that though the properties in the hands of the deceased were ancestral, he was the sole owner of it and surviving member of the family, there being then no co-partner in existence. He had, according to Hindu Law, a right to make a will. His Honour was of opinion that the plaintiff had locus standi to bring this suit. His Honour also held that the fourth plaintiff was the validly adopted son of the deceased and was unquestionably entitled to all his properties to the exclusion of the third defendant who was subsequently adopted by Tai Maharaj and His Honour held that the adoption of the third defendant became invalid. As to cost His Honour ordered that the plaintiff should recover their costs from the Stridhan property of Tai Maharaj and from the second and third defendants. The defendants were ordered to bear their own costs.

Against that decision, the third defendant has appealed and arguments are proceeding.

BENAMI MORTGAGE IN DISPUTE.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Robertson heard an appeal from a decision of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman who had decreed the plaintiff's claim with costs in the suit brought by Kooverbai, widow, against Asibai and Manji Ourrimbhoy.

It appeared that the plaintiff bought the property in suit in the name of the deceased first defendant and shortly afterwards the benamidar mortgaged it with his own property to the second defendant, Manji. In 1903 Manji conveyed both the properties to the first defendant who then executed another mortgage of the property to Manji. The plaintiff sought to have it declared that the mortgage was not binding upon her property and for an order against the second defendant that should restore to her the title-deeds if he possessed them, of the property in dispute.

Mr. Justice Beaman passed a decree in favour of the plaintiff and against that order the second defendant Manji appealed.

Arguments in appeal are proceeding.

A SHAM SALE-DEED.

ON the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Rao disposed of the appeal of Radhabai, widow against a decision of Mr. E. C. Clements, District Judge of Belgaum.

Mr. Trikumlal H. Desai, appeared for the appellant; Mr. G. S. Mulgaokar represented the respondent Mallappa Patil.

The plaintiff-appellant Radhabai had filed this suit for a declaration of her rights and possession of the property of her son Kashinath.

It appeared that the deceased had in 1895 passed a sham sale-deed in the name of one Dattu, minor son of his kept mistress Rakhma. Kashinath, Rakhma and Dattu all died in 1902. One Vithabai claimed the property as sister of Dattu and the defendant-respondent Mallappa claimed the same by an alleged purchase from Vithabai. After the death of Kashinath and Rakhma disputes arose and the plaintiff claimed the property by inheritance as a Hindu mother.

Mr. Kale, Second-Class Subordinate Judge of Athni, held that the plaintiff was the heir of Kashinath; that he had not given possession to Rakhma, that there was no consideration for sale to Dattu and that the deed was passed in consideration of Rakhma being his mistress.

In appeal Mr. Clements held that there was no consideration, but that it was a gift to Rakhma's son and therefore reversed the decree of the Lower Court.

After hearing the arguments, their Lordships reversed Mr. Clements' decree with costs in both the Courts holding that the view taken by the Subordinate Judge in his very careful and elaborate judgment was correct.

THE RACING SUITS.

THE Hon'ble Mr. Justice Robertson, having been engaged with the Hon'ble the Chief Justice in an appeal on the Original Side, could not deliver his judgments in the two racing suits. The judgments will be delivered this morning.

POLICE COURT

DEATH OF AN HONORARY MAGISTRATE.

YESTERDAY, before the Dadar Bench of Honorary Magistrates, consisting of Dr. H. L. Batliwalla (Chairman) and Mr. J. D. DeAlmeida, Mr. Vinayakrao Ramrao Navalkar, pleader, referred to the sad death of Mr. J. F. Rodrigues, an Honorary Magistrate, who died at Dadar on Sunday evening. Mr. Navalkar said that the deceased gentleman had devoted himself to the welfare of the public. The deceased was a Trustee of the Dadar A. P. School, which he had brought to its present flourishing state. They all regretted the death of Mr. Rodrigues. He requested the Court to place on record an expression of sorrow at Mr. Rodrigues's death.

Dr. Battiwalla said he had heard of the death of Mr. Rodrigues with deep regret. He wished he could close the Court for the day out of respect to the memory of the deceased gentleman, but as he knew of no precedent he could not do so. He would move the Honorary Magistrates Association to allow this Court to observe a day for mourning for the deceased gentleman. He directed that an expression of sorrow at Mr. Rodrigues's death be placed on record.

A JUVENILE THIEF.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Lewis charged Sakia Nana, a Hindu lad, aged 9, with the theft of a five-rupee note.

Manjulabai, the accused's mother stated that on Saturday last the accused asked for money, which she refused to give him. Later on, the same day, she missed the five-rupee note from her box, subsequently the police brought the accused with the money to her.

The accused admitted having taken the money from the box. He said he took the money and went out to buy kites with it.

On the mother undertaking to look after the accused, the Magistrate ordered him to be released on a bond of Rs 25 to be of good behaviour for a period of six months.

THEFT OF A WATCH.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate, Inspector O'Brien charged Tulsibai, a Hindu woman, with the theft of a watch valued at Rs. 5. It appeared from evidence that during the absence of the complainant Kisan Mahadu, a butler, the accused went into the kitchen where the complainant had left his watch, and took it away. On receiving information the complainant went in search of her and found her in another house. She produced the watch which she had concealed in her clothes. The accused pleaded not guilty. She was convicted and, as this was her first offence she was sentenced to one day's simple imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 5, or in default, to undergo one week's rigorous imprisonment.

BANDMANN OPERA COMPANY.

'The Toreador.'

ONE of the best performances, which the Bandmann Opera Company have given during their present visit to Bombay was that of 'The Toreador' at the Empire Theatre last evening. This is an old favourite play which all seasoned play-goers welcome to the bill and last night it thoroughly deserved the enthusiastic welcome it received. It is hardly necessary to speak at length of such a well-known play, but one is bound to mention the excellent part played by Mr. James McGrath who was thoroughly at his best and also Miss Florence Beech who as Nancy Stanuton made a most charming boy in the disguise of Mr. Robinson and sang delightfully. Mr. A. G. Frith was a somewhat unconventional and unmilitary governor, but quite good nevertheless, and Mr. Harry Cole has seldom been better than he was as the "Tiger." Miss Coonie Leon gave a performance full of life and go such as one has learned to expect from her, and Miss Annie Romaine signalised a welcome reappearance with a very acceptable rendering of her part and a pretty and dainty dance.

This evening the Company play "The King of Cadonic."

BY THE WAY.

MARRIAGES MADE IN GERMANY.

There are many good things in Miss Wylie's volume, "My German Year," which Messrs. Mills and Boon have just published. Miss Wylie loves nearly all things German, and is entertaining on whatever subject she touches. She is in her most optimistic mood in the chapter on "Marriage—Before and After," and since the cry goes up from so many countries that there are not enough men to "go round," it is gratifying to hear that in Germany, at all events, things are otherwise. On the authority of a German lady we are told that "an average girl can always get the man she wants as long as she does not want anything too grand or expensive." In her own social circle she has only to make her choice, and her mother does the rest. "With the slightest encouragement on the girl's part matters march rapidly forward. Twenty years ago a young couple were never left an instant to themselves until they were actually married. Nowadays the painful etiquette has been relaxed, and the ask of marrying thereby simplified." As long as she holds a tennis-racket the damsel may wander with her willing swain wherever she likes, and a ski-tour up on the snow-covered hills is said to be an even more successful match-maker than a game of tennis. It sounds quite charming, and so very simple.

THE USELESS BALL-ROOM.

On the other hand, the ball-room "has sunk out of sight as a matrimonial market": "In the first place, it is bad form to dance more than twice with the same girl unless one is engaged in the second place, sitting-out corners are unknown, so that the young man naturally feels that his chances are better out of doors, where his preference is not observed by a dozen pairs of sharp, watching eyes." And when he has ascertained the lady's sentiments, or perhaps we ought to say when she has made it plain to him that he may marry her, he puts on his top-hat and frock-coat and calls on her father, explaining his prospects, receiving an explanation of hers, and if both give satisfaction the great event of the betrothal comes off.

THE AWE-INSPIRING WEDDING FEAST.

There are delightful details concerning the prescribed behaviour of the engaged couple, the German bridal trousseau, and the civil and religious marriage ceremony. When the latter is concluded the party returns to the bride's home, "and then begins a festive meal which puts the German's power of stoic, cheerful endurance to the test. It is a mighty meal, an awe-inspiring meal, a really awful meal. The clergyman sits between the bride and bridegroom and makes a speech in their honour. Then the father of the bridegroom makes a speech in honour of the bride's family, and the father of the bride makes a speech in honour of the bridegroom's family, and then come the guests, the ladies, everybody an fin till there is nothing left to toast except the wine itself. All this takes some hours—usually from three to seven, and the "Stimmung" rises from degree to degree, especially after the pointedly ignored departure of the bride and bridegroom. The evening is concluded with a dance, and if many guests are staying in the house, and the brides mother has enough strength left, there is what is called a "Nach-Hochzeit," a second festivity, the day afterwards." It is indeed a mighty affair; one might even say that from the mere non-German point of view it is rather too much of a good thing.

STUDYING EARTHQUAKES.

The problem of observing and studying earth shocks and quakes is one of intense fascination. The Empire of Japan, according to an article in the new number of the "Century Magazine," has taken the lead in earthquake investigation, and has employed the most modern methods and apparatus for the use of seismologists. It was a after the shock of 1891 that the Government of Japan established a permanent earthquake Commission. An active member of the Committee is Professor Omori the inventor of a seismograph which is in use in all parts of the globe. Japanese seismology, it seems, really dates from the the establishment of the Tokio University about forty years ago.

HOW A SHOCK IS RECORDED.

The earthquake instrument is described by the writer of this very interesting article as a heavy weight pivoted delicately on a frame, which is swung at an upright hinge-line, so that the faintest movement in the post will be communicated to the frame. A light lever with a pen, at the outer end of the weighted frame, makes on a paper, moved by clockwork, a magnified record of the movements of the earth's crust. He adds: Let us stop a moment to watch what happens when an earthquake wave passes through the earth. The weight is still, its pen is lightly in contact with the paper, and as the latter moves by clockwork there is left written a straight line. Slowly, as we watch, the writing finger moves sidewise and begins to make little wave-marks. This lasts several minutes. Then the pen begins to creep out until it is very slowly scratching long, sweeping zigzags. In the course of half an hour this slowly diminishes. Not a single tremor has been felt. The waves passing through the round were too broad and slow for sensation, but they have come thousands of miles from a place where walls were falling and people were rushing frantically into the streets. We can well believe that "it is and impressive experience to watch a seismograph recording a heavy distant earthquake."

A LABOUR OF LOVE.

A word concerning the personnel of these men who are engaged in the pursuit of earth-shock registering and study is supplied by the writer of the article: The Japanese professors of the Earthquake Investigation Committee are physicists, chemists, geologists, and engineers. These men are banded together in a labour of love—patriotism, humanity, progress. They are Samurai, and "Bushido," the tradition of chivalry, is motive enough for their work, and asks no reward. They are conducting earth study along the lines of pure science, supported by their Government, with an immediate human object, in a way that puts to shame the so-called enlightened nations of the Western World. "The Japanese have no fear of earthquakes or volcanoes. Indeed, they have no fear of anything."

WELCOME TO THE IMMIGRANT.

The welcome awaiting the hundred and ten domestic servants who the other day embarked on the Orient steamship Osterley for West Australia was very different from that accorded to many emigrants of the eighteenth century. The following advertisement from a "New York Gazette" of May, 1774, illustrates one view of the immigrant of that century: Servants just arrived from Scotland, to be sold on board the Commerce, Captain Fergusson, master, lying at the Ferry Stairs, among which are a number of weavers, taylors, blacksmiths, nailers, shoemakers, butchers, hatters, and spinsters, 14 to 35 years of age. For terms apply to Henry White, or said master on board.

THE BIGGEST LOAF.

Texas is still booming. Mr. Andrew Newberg, of Austin, baked the other day the largest loaf of bread in the world. It weighed 140lb., and its dimensions were 12ft. by 3ft. by 2ft. The baking occupied an hour, a special oven being used. The loaf was sent to a "barbecue," where it was cut and distributed to a large crowd. It seems a pity that it came to a commonplace end in this way. What a political symbol it would have made if carried on a pole at the head of a processional during the Congressional election campaign!

RACHEL'S BIRTHPLACE.

The Swiss, it is said, are about to erect a monument to commemorate Rachel's birth in their territory. She was born in the Golden Sun Inn at Munf in the Canton of Aargau, her father being described in the parish register as "un homme qui colportait." He had been educated to be a rabbi, but had become a pedlar, and drove his cart across Europe, selling soap, ribbons, laces and popular illustrated almanacks. His dart contained his family as well as his wares; and it needed to be a large one to do so, for his wife, Esther Haya Felix, bore him no fewer than sixteen children, though only six of them lived to grow up. The fulness of his quiver was apparently one of the reasons why he gave up peddling and settled at Lyons, where he became a teacher of German, while his wife dealt in ladies' cast off clothes.

BEAUTY AND HYGIENE.

For health, beauty and luxury, use the "ALBION MILK and SULPHUR SOAP," which, Lady Constance Howard writes, "is pleasant to use and whitens and softens the skin." Also Testimonials from Countess Bathurst, Countess of Westmeath, Lady White, Viscountess Exmouth, Lady Dorothy Nevill and many others. Delicately perfumed. Warning:—When buying the Albion Milk and Sulphur Soap see that the name and figure head of Albion are on the wrapper, sold by Chemists Grocers, etc.

MEN AND MATTERS.

KING EDWARD MEMORIAL SCHEMES.

Mr. Asquith is in the habit of ignoring the Press, and he could hardly have chosen a less suitable moment for launching the King Edward Memorial schemes than the silly season, when everybody of importance is taking a holiday. Scotland is, as usual, to the front, and the decision to renovate Holyrood is sensible. Not that Holyrood, which lies too low to be healthy, is ever likely to become a Royal residence, though the cannie Scottie Radical may dream of it as his Parliament House of the future. London will not, of course, rest content with a mere statue. The late King already appears under the dragon at Temple Bar. We may also dismiss the fantastic idea of rebuilding Trafalgar Square. The Navy League would be furious. So, would the devotees of Charles I., whole statue, buried in the ground during the Commonwealth, is one of the most beautiful in the metropolis. Besides, the square is a recognised place of public meeting.

THE MOST LIKELY SCHEME.

Nor can one recommends a pantheon to supplement Westminster Abbey. To begin with, there is ample space for statues are desired, in St. Paul's Cathedral. And, next, there is arising a strong dislike of such effigies unless the man himself be buried beneath. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's memorial is shortly to be placed in the Abbey; but when the matter came up in the House of Commons Mr. Balfour distinctly said that he hoped it would be the last. This hint was intended for his own case. The most likely notion for London is, perhaps, the proposal to clear the front of Victoria Station, where foreign monarchs usually arrive. The present outlook is a very dingy introduction to the metropolis.

A PRINCESS AS TYPIST.

Princess Mary has recently learnt to type. There are two lady typists attached to the secretarial staff at Marlborough House, one of whom, at the Princess's urgent request, instructed her Royal Highness in the art of typing. The Princess proved an apt pupil, and devoted herself so assiduously to her work that after a few weeks' instruction and practice she was able to work a typewriter at quite a fair rate of speed. Her Royal Highness during her holidays at Balmoral will assist in the typing of some of the more private correspondence of King George, The Princess also intends to learn shorthand, and is keenly looking forward to helping Queen Mary regularly with her correspondence when the Royal Family settle at Buckingham Palace. Princess Mary is the first English Royalty to have learnt typing, and it may be also noted that her Royal Highness was the first Royalty to open an account at the Post Office Savings Bank, which the Princess did on her tenth birthday.

WHY KING ALFONSO IS REALLY A SPORTSMAN.

The manner in which the King of Spain's polo playing has been eulogised by the Press might lead one to suppose that the reports were written more on accounts of his distinguished position than for his actual skill as a player. But this is quite a mistaken idea. If Alfonso had not had the good fortune to have been born a king, he would have undoubtedly made his mark as an athlete. He is gifted with the most surprising adaptability. He invariably manages to shine at whatever pastime he takes up, and the fact that he has quickly surmounted the difficulties which confront the beginner in polo does not come as a surprise to those in the know. His latest whim is to possess an aeroplane. But on this point his advisers are adamant. The Spanish Court have quite sufficient worry by the young King's reckless motoring. Should he commence aviation they would, no doubt, resign "en masse."

AN APARTMENT OF SPORTING TROPHIES.

If anyone doubted the King of Spain's genuine prowess as a sportsman, a visit to his Palace at Madrid would quickly convince them to the contrary. In one of the apartments of the Palace he has installed all the sporting trophies he has won. They form quite a small museum of their own, and are a standing example of King Alfonso's skill. He has always been a deadly marksman and he has a private shooting saloon of his own, where he practises with revolver and rifle. He often has his courtiers in to watch him, and astonishes them at times by bringing off very difficult shots. Just recently he surprised everyone by proving himself to be a first-class swimmer—an accomplishment which no one had hitherto suspected. One day while on his yacht off Bilbao, he suggested a dip. Several of his friends acquiesced and, undressing, prepared to jump in from the side of the vessel. Their host, however, was nowhere in view. Then one of the crew espied the slight figure of the young King high up in the rigging. A few seconds later he cleaved the water with a clever and daring dive, to reappear shortly after and invite his friends to join him. He is fond of everything English, and although he has not yet shone at golf and lawn tennis, he still perseveres with them, for that reason.

AN UNCONVENTIONAL COUNTESS.

The Countess of Glasgow, who is now taking a well earned rest after an unusually trying period of nursing her son, the Hon. Alan Boyle, shares with her husband a fondness for agricultural pursuits, a fact which has made her greatly beloved by Scottish farmers and their wives. Unconventional to the extreme, her ladyship had once a quaint experience which almost overcame even her own ideas of simplicity. It happened soon after the Earl was made Governor of New Zealand in succession to Lord Onslow. An side-de-camp was despatched with a verbal invitation to a newly-appointed minister, who owed his position rather to natural abilities than to any adventitious advantages in the way of birth and training. With a grin the side-de-camp gave her ladyship the minister's reply: "Much obliged, but me and the missus don't meal out."

FATHER AND SON.

Lord Tennyson, who completed his fifty-seventh year recently is best known, of course, as the son of his father, from which accident, like many sons of great men, he has suffered in his turn. Nevertheless, as statesman and administrator, he has helped to shape the destiny of the Empire in the Antipodes. When his name was mentioned as Governor-General for Australia, outspoken Colonials who had never seen him shook their heads and cried: "Won't he fancy himself!" But before Lord Tennyson had been in the Dominion a month he had created a totally different impression. Although he has not inherited his father's astounding poetic genius, he possesses a pretty turn for verse himself; but, being the very essence of modesty, publishers have bombarded him in vain for samples of his poetry. His lordship has much of the poet in his appearance; the high-doomed forhead the piercing eyes, and the expressive mouth are singularly suggestive of the first bearer of the title; but the son is smarter in appearance more alert, and not without a certain gift of humour, which flashes out unexpectedly and in odd places. He once told a good story as an Australian banquet of a London youth he met one day in the vicinity of Park Lane. What is your name?" asked Lord Tennyson "Alfred Tennyson Hicks," replied the boy. "Alfred Tennyson! I presume you know after whom you were named?" "Rayther. I was named after me uncle on me mother's side. 'E lives overthe mews."

A SPRINTING PEERESS.

Lady Willingdon, who, with Lord Willingdon, recently won a hundred yards handicap for married couples, notwithstanding the fact that her ladyship was "scratch man," is one of the new Peeresses. Those who have not quite got used to her title will know her better as Mrs. Freeman-Thomas. Lady Willingdon, also at "scratch," won a married woman's handicap. Two races in one day must be a record for a Peeress. Lady Willingdon, who married Mr. Freeman-Thomas in 1892, when she was only seventeen, is a daughter of Lord Brassey, to whom her husband acted as A.D.C. when he went out as Governor of Victoria. She is passionately fond of gardening, and on her husband's estate at Ruston owns one of the prettiest flower gardens in England. It is a walled-in-pleasance, and is known by the quaint title of "My Lady's Garden." She is very proud of the old sundial it contains, which bears this significant inscription: "I mark only the light hours." One of her hobbies is a "khaki farm," where every animal is of that sombre brown hue. There are khaki cows, khaki fowls, khaki dogs; in fact, all the inhabitants of the farmyard are closely matched in the name of khaki tint. This reminds one of Lord Alington's white farm at Crichel. In her farmyard is part of the original house in which Sarah Jennings, the first Duchess of Marlborough, was born.

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF WRIST WEAR. A new model has to pass through the severest tests before we place it before the public; and should it fail to satisfy in the minutest particular, what we know to be the essentials of a Wrist Watch, it is at once discarded.

These "Ideal" Wrist Watches are constructed to withstand hard-wear, such as we know a wrist watch must of necessity be subjected to. They are built for the Indian climate and to these combined features we attribute their great popularity. The lever movement is fully jewelled, strong keyless attachment, compensated balance, carefully adjusted hair spring, white enamel dial, bold numerals, sunk seconds circle. The time-keeping accuracy and durability of these watches carry our usual guarantee. The soft leather wristlet obviates contact of metal with the skin, vitiates the possibilities of irritation or poisoning and reduces even the remote chance of moisture permeating case.

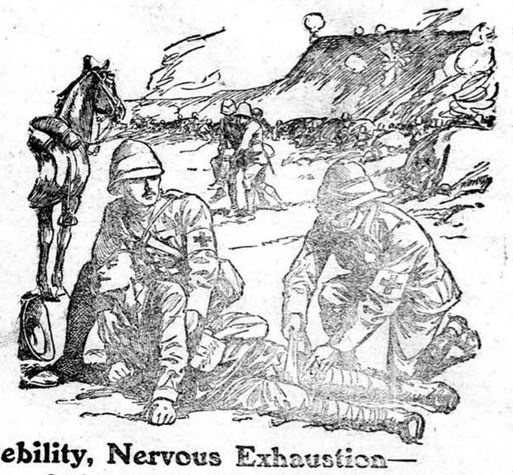
A Medical Officer



Debility, Nervous Exhaustion—

Certainly the absolute confidence of eminent doctors is evidence enough of the exceptional benefits imparted by Phosferine. Even doctors cannot do more to prove their confidence than by using Phosferine to remedy their own disorders. Could any proof be more definite, more convincing than the testimony of John Dodd, D.S.M., Medical Officer in the late South African War, who says: "After being shot through both lungs I was dangerously reduced, and I attribute it solely to Phosferine that I regained my usual health. I have proved the value of Phosferine in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion." This brilliant medical officer found Phosferine particularly serviceable for insufficiency of nerve force, and declares nothing was so suitable in combating fevers, chills, &c.

Not possible now

John Dodd, D.S.M. (late of the Medical Staff, 5th Imperial Yeomanry, 1st Brigade, South Africa), Ladysmith House, Witton-le-Wear, writes:—"I have had considerable experience in the use of your invaluable remedy Phosferine, and it has proved particularly serviceable where there exists insufficiency of nerve force. This condition, often due to primary weakness, lays the system open to influenza, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, indigestion, fevers, and in remedying this predisposition I have found nothing so suitable as your preparation. Phosferine invariably goes to the root of the mischief direct. The certainty of its action is moreover an estimable feature. In debility and kindred ailments, caused by a reduced system, it has unprecedented power, and in my own case I can bear evidence to its exceptional value, and am indeed greatly indebted to its wonderful restorative properties. During the late war in South Africa, I was shot through both lungs and pericardium and that reduced me most dangerously; after taking Phosferine for about two months it brought me back to my usual health. I attribute this solely to the use of Phosferine. I have advised Phosferine in several cases, and proved its value in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion."—March 11, 1910.

DR. DE JONGH'S
KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR
LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL
THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.
Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be
The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially where it will sustain life in Consumption of the lungs, when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S.,
"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. [illegible]
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."
